

AuthenticHuman

Where every human thrives

In a post-pandemic world, unleashing your Partnerships full potential isn't just an advantage - it's essential. Discover how with Authentic Human.

authentichuman.com.au

Peak performance with Authentic Human

Is your business aspiration to boast engaged employees, cohesive high-functioning teams, outstanding management, collaborative partnerships and an overall thriving workplace?

Authentic Human helps you create an efficient, productive, profitable and successful business where your team bring their A-Game every single day.

Is it time to revitalise your business and enjoy greater success?

What is Authentic Human's secret?

As one of five certified practices in Australia, Authentic Human utilises the BG5™ system to create an unambiguous picture of how people are designed to work and thrive, with a deliberate focus on career direction, business interactions, interpersonal skills and optimised leadership and management.

It is the most comprehensive integrative system for understanding individual, partnership and team dynamics that exists.

Time to Thrive as a Business Partnership

Partnerships thrive when both parties are committed to the collective business goals and are committed to working through the tough conversations. It's not about 'fixing' the other person, it's about understanding the dynamics of the relationship to enhance the partnership success in work, and in life.

A Business Partnership Analysis includes:

- Career Analysis 1 for each partner as you thrive when you understand your unique gifts and talents, and begin to function at an optimal level of awareness, creativity and effectiveness.
- Joint Consultation to work through the similarities and differences - career types, interaction styles, decision-making strategies, key success indicators and assimilation styles using real-life examples so you can see the power of this methodology in action.

The next stage is a Career Analysis 2 individually, followed by a second joint consultation to deepen your partnership understanding, collaboration and success.

Career Analysis 1

You have a unique career design with specific gifts, talents and attributes to share.

If you were able to look at the career designs of the entire planet, you would see there is no one exactly like you - you are meant to be different from everyone else.

Endless possibilities for individual expression exist when you utilise a clear strategy that aligns to your unique life's work and purpose.

CAREER TYPE: How you best express yourself	Provides a profound insight into the easiest and most natural way to utilise your energy and your innate abilities to fully express yourself.
INTERACTION STYLE: How you best interact with others	In order to be successful in our careers (and lives), we must interact with others. Understanding your unique style reduces stress, tension & miscommunication.
DECISION-MAKING STRATEGY: How you make the best decisions	The decisions we make shape our lives. Knowing how to make the best decisions with confidence and correct timing is key to removing resistance & experiencing success.
KEY SUCCESS INDICATORS: How you know you're on track	To get where you want in life, you have to know where you're at. Your design contains clear signposts allowing you to quickly recognise if you are off-track to course correct.
ASSIMILATION STYLE: How you process information	There are several different ways people learn, process and integrate information, with each style having its own unique advantage. Time to understand yours.

"This knowledge sets the foundation for maximum career success as my design doesn't change - this unique intelligence about how I operate will last forever".
Charmayne Connelly, MD, EnTrust Global

Career Analysis 2

There is no such thing as the perfect business partnership but through understanding each other on a truly deep and authentic level you can operate in synergy, avoid conflict and maximise skills to be the power partnership your ideal business selves are craving.

A business partnership succeeds when both parties are committed to the collective goals and to working through the tough conversations.

It's not about 'fixing' the other person, it's about understanding the dynamics of the relationship to enhance your business partnership success.

ENVIRONMENT STYLE: Your optimal work environment	Anyone can work in any environment for short periods of time or for the experience, however there are specific environments you are designed to thrive.
PUBLIC ROLE: How you manifest your purpose	This is a very significant part of who you are, how you operate and how people perceive and interact with you. It is part of your work, and what you are designed to contribute to the world.
LIFE WORK: Your overall theme of your purpose	This is the ultimate expression of you being you - making a living doing what you love!
STRENGTHS & CONTRIBUTIONS: What is inherent in you	This is your true 'nature' – the consistent, reliable personal energy you can depend on. It's the energy you are broadcasting to others.
SHADOWS & DISTRACTIONS: Where you get taken off-track	This is inconsistent, personal energy you cannot depend on. It's what you receive from others, whether you are aware of it or not.
BUSINESS SKILLS & ATTRIBUTES: Your specific business skills	Your innate business skills others recognise in you, especially in a group setting. It doesn't mean you are automatically good at them, but they are easy to develop and excel in.

Amanda Trenfield
Certified BG5 Business Analyst
amanda@authentichuman.com.au
Book a complimentary discussion here.